AVAILABILITY

This schedule is for electric service to residential customers with electric space heating. New customers after the effective date of this tariff must have a heat pump.

Where the electric heat equipment is separately metered for customers served prior to the effective date of this tariff, the Cooperative may separately calculate the bill for the separately metered heating equipment under this tariff and add to the remainder of the customer's usage as billed under the Residential rate, provided that only one Service Availability Charge per location shall be billed per month. Customers that were previously served on the Load Management tariff are grandfathered into this tariff as described below.
